(3) If any amount demanded in accordance with paragraph (1) of this Regulation, but not paid, is an amount other than duty, the Post Office shall deliver the packet to the proper officer of Customs and Excise.

16. If dutiable goods are brought by post into the United Kingdom in any postal packet contrary to Regulation 6 of these Regulations, or if any postal packet or mail bag to which Regulations 7, 8 and 9 of these Regulations or any of them apply does not contain, does not have affixed to it or is not accompanied by the declaration, or does not bear the green label, required by those Regulations or any of them, or if the contents of any postal packet do not agree with the green label or customs declaration affixed to the packet, or by which it is accompanied, or if the other requirements of those Regulations or any of them are not complied with in every material respect, then in every such case the packet or mail bag and all its contents shall be liable to forfeiture.

17. If the Commissioners require any postal packet to be delivered to them on the ground that any goods contained in it are liable to forfeiture under the customs enactments (including these Regulations) or under the Exchange Control Act 1947(a), then the proper officer of the Post Office shall deliver the packet to the proper officer of Customs and Excise.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations, which set out the customs requirements relating to incoming and outgoing postal packets and to goods contained in them, replace the Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1966, as amended by the Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Amendment (No. 1) Regulations 1968. Changes in the 1966 Regulations are necessitated by the provisions of the Post Office Act 1969 (C.48), and the Postal Services (Channel Islands Consequential Provisions) Order 1969 (S.I. 1969/1368), and the opportunity has been taken to introduce some other minor changes.

The principal changes in the Regulations are as follows:

- (a) References to the Postmaster General and to the Post Office have been replaced by references to the Post Office as established by the Post Office Act 1969.
- (b) Goods may now be sent to the United Kingdom from the Channel Islands by letter post, subject to compliance with the usual requirements regarding the affixing of a "green label" and completion of a Customs declaration. Formerly only the parcel post could legally be used for sending dutiable goods by post to the United Kingdom from the Channel Islands.
- (c) The Customs declaration in respect of goods sent to the United Kingdom by the insured box post may now be enclosed in the insured box (instead of being attached to the outside) provided that the box bears a green label on the outside.
- (d) A time limit is set for the production of any particulars which may be required by the Customs in connection with goods imported by post.
- (e) The Post Office is enabled to dispose more expeditiously of packets which cannot be delivered to the addressee because he has failed to furnish the Customs with particulars of the contents when required to do so.
- (f) Wider discretion is allowed to the Post Office to dispose of packets which are undeliverable because the duty due and demanded on them has not been paid.
