EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Overseas Aid Act 1968 section 2(1) provides that if the Government of the United Kingdom becomes bound by an international agreement for the establishment and operation of a regional development bank which provides for the making by members of the bank of an initial subscription or other initial contribution to the capital stock of the bank or becomes bound by any arrangements for the making by members of additional contributions to the capital stock of any such bank, the Minister of Overseas Development may, with the approval of the Treasury, provide by Order for the payment out of monies provided by Parliament of any sums required for the purposes specified in that subsection.

The Government of the United Kingdom has become bound by an international Agreement, dated 8th April 1959, establishing the Inter-American Development Bank, the purpose of which is to contribute to the acceleration of the process of economic development of the developing member countries, individually and collectively, in the Western Hemisphere, the terms of which were amended to provide for membership of countries of the International Monetary Fund and of Switzerland.

This Order provides for the payment of a sum equivalent to 51,060,000 United States dollars of the weight and fineness in effect on 1st January 1959 in accordance with the terms of the Agreement (being 61,595,886 current United States dollars) as the initial subscription from the United Kingdom to the shares of the additional capital stock of the Inter-American Development Bank (the equivalent of 10,157,410 current United States dollars will be paid in and the balance will be callable), for the payment of any sum which may be required to maintain the par or foreign exchange value of such subscription and for the redemption of non-interest-bearing and non-negotiable notes issued by the Minister in place of any amount due, in United Kingdom currency, by the Government of the United Kingdom by way of initial subscription to the Bank. This Order further provides that any sum which may be received by the Government of the United Kingdom in pursuance of that Agreement shall be paid into the Consolidated Fund.
