EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the Education (Bursaries for Teacher Training) Regulations 1986 which (as now amended by the addition of references to technology) authorise the Secretary of State to pay grants to persons undergoing training to prepare them to teach mathematics, physics, technology, or craft, design and technology. Bursaries are now tenable in respect of a course designed to prepare persons to teach pupils aged 11-16 or of all ages in secondary schools, the principal subject-matter of which is mathematics, physics, technology, physics and technology or craft design and technology. Grants are now payable whether the course is full-time or part-time.

The rate of grant is increased to £1,250 per annum in respect of an academic year beginning on or after 1st September 1987, the amount payable in respect of a part-time course being calculated pro rata.

The Education (Bursaries for Teacher Training) (Amendment) Regulations 1987 are revoked.
