1. You cannot at this stage refer to arbitration either your liability to comply with this Notice to pay rent or any other question as to the validity of the Notice. 3. You will then have three months from the date of service of that notice in which to appoint an arbitrator by agreement or (in default of such agreement) to make an application under paragraph 1 of Schedule 11 to that Act for the appointment of an arbitrator. If this is not done by you or your landlord your notice requiring arbitration ceases to be effective (see article 10 of that Order).

Notes

In these Notes "the Order" means the Agricultural Holdings (Arbitration on Notices) Order 1987 (S.I. 1987/710).

What to do if you wish—

- (a) to contest your liability to do the work, or any part of the work, required by this notice to remedy (Question (a)); or
- (b) to request the deletion from this Notice to remedy of any item or part of an item of work on the ground that it is unnecessary or unjustified (Question (b)); or
- (c) to request the substitution in the case of any item or part of an item of work of a different method or material for the method or material which this Notice to remedy would otherwise require to be followed or used (Question (c)).

1. Questions (a), (b) and (c) mentioned in the heading to these Notes can be referred to arbitration under article 3(1) of the Order. To do so you must serve a notice in writing upon your landlord within one month of the service upon you of this Notice to remedy. The notice you serve upon your landlord should specify—

- (a) if you are referring Question (a), the items for which you deny liability,
- (b) if you are referring Question (b), the items you wish to be deleted,
- (c) if you are referring Question (c), the different methods or materials you wish to be substituted, and in each case should require the matter to be determined by arbitration under the Agricultural Holdings Act 1986 (c.5). You will not be able to refer Question (a), (b) or (c) to arbitration later, on receipt of a notice to quit. This action does not prevent you settling the matter in writing by agreement with your landlord.

Carrying out the work

2. If you refer any of these Questions (a), (b) and (c) to arbitration, you are not obliged to carry out the work which is the subject of the reference to arbitration unless and until the arbitrator decides that you are liable to do it; but you must carry out any work which you are not referring to arbitration.

3. If you are referring Question (a) to arbitration you may if you wish carry out any of the work which is the subject of that reference to arbitration without waiting for the arbitrator's award. If you do this and the arbitrator finds that you have carried out any such work which you were under no obligation to do, he will determine at the time he makes his award the reasonable cost of any such work which you have done and you will be entitled to recover this from your landlord (see article 8 of the Order). This provision does not apply in the case of work referred to arbitration under Question (b) or Question (c).

What to do if you wish to contest any other question arising under this Notice to remedy

4. If you wish to contest any other question arising under this Notice other than Question (a), (b) or (c), such as whether the time specified in the Notice to do work is a reasonable period in which to carry out the work, you should refer the question to arbitration in either of the following ways, according to whether or not you are also at the same time referring Question (a), (b) or (c) to arbitration—

- (a) If you are referring Question (a), (b) or (c) to arbitration, then you must also refer to arbitration at the same time any other questions relevant to this Notice which you may wish to dispute.

To do this, you should include in the Notice to your landlord referred to in Note 1 above a statement of the other questions which you require to be determined by arbitration under the Agricultural Holdings Act 1986 (see article 4(1) of the Order).

- (b) If you are not referring Question (a), (b) or (c) to arbitration, but wish to contest some other question arising under this Notice to remedy, you may refer that question to arbitration either now, on receipt of this Notice, or later, if you get a notice to quit.

To refer the question to arbitration now, you should serve on your landlord within one month after the service of this Notice to remedy a notice in writing setting out what it is you require to be determined by arbitration under the Agricultural Holdings Act 1986 (see article 4(2)(a) of the Order).

Alternatively, you have one month after the service of the notice to quit within which you can serve on your landlord a notice in writing requiring the question to be determined by arbitration under the 1986 Act (see article 9 of the Order). You will then have three months from the date of service of that notice in which to appoint an arbitrator by agreement or (in default of such agreement) to make an application under paragraph 1 of Schedule 11 to that Act for the appointment of an arbitrator. If this is not done by you or your landlord your notice requiring arbitration ceases to be effective (see article 10 of the Order).

Warning

5. Notes 1 to 4 above outline the only opportunities you have to challenge this Notice to remedy.

Extensions of time allowed for complying with this Notice to remedy

6. If you refer to arbitration now any question arising from this Notice to remedy, the time allowed for complying with the Notice will be extended until the termination of the arbitration. If the arbitrator decides that you are liable to do any of the work specified in this Notice to remedy, he will extend the time in which the work is to be done by such period as he thinks fit (see article 6(2) of the Order).

Warning as to the effect which any extension of the time allowed for complying with this Notice to remedy may have upon a subsequent notice to quit

7. If your time for doing the work is extended as mentioned in note 6 above, the arbitrator can specify a date for the termination of your tenancy should you fail to complete the work you are liable to do within the extended time. Then, if you did fail to complete that work within the extended time, your landlord could serve a notice to quit upon you expiring on the date which the arbitrator had specified, and the notice would be valid even though that date might be less than twelve months after the next term date, and might not expire on a term date. The arbitrator cannot, however, specify a termination date which is less than six months after the expiry of the extended time to do the work. Nor can he specify a date which is earlier than would have been possible if you had not required arbitration on this Notice to remedy and had failed to do the work (see article 7 of the Order).

Notes

1. You cannot at this stage refer to arbitration either your liability to comply with this Notice to remedy or any other question as to the validity of the Notice. You will, however, be entitled to do so later if a notice to quit is served on you on the ground that you have failed to comply with this Notice to remedy. That is the only opportunity you will have to challenge this Notice.

2. At that stage under article 9 of the Agricultural Holdings (Arbitration on Notices) Order 1987 (S.I. 1987/710), you have one month after the service of the notice to quit within which you can serve on your landlord a notice in writing requiring the question to be determined by arbitration under the Agricultural Holdings Act 1986 (c.5).

3. You will then have three months from the date of service of that notice in which to appoint an arbitrator by agreement or (in default of such agreement) to make an application under paragraph 1 of Schedule 11 to that Act for the appointment of an arbitrator. If this is not done by you or your landlord your notice requiring arbitration ceases to be effective (see article 10 of that Order).

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations revoke and replace the Agricultural Holdings (Forms of Notice to Pay Rent or to Remedy) Regulations 1984 ("the 1984 Regulations"). The Regulations bring up to date references in the 1984 Regulations to provisions which have been consolidated by the Agricultural Holdings Act 1986 and the Agricultural Holdings (Arbitration on Notices) Order 1987 ("the 1987 Order").

The Regulations continue to prescribe—

- (a) a form to be used by the landlord of an agricultural holding when serving on his tenant a notice to pay rent due for the purposes of Case D in Part I of Schedule 3 to that Act (regulation 3 and Form 1 in Schedule);
- (b) two different forms for the notice to remedy breaches of the terms and conditions of the tenancy for the purposes of the said Case D according to whether or not any work of repair, maintenance or replacement is required to remedy the breach (regulation 4 and Forms 2 and 3 in Schedule).

The reference in the Notes to the Forms to the time-limit in article 10 of the 1987 Order (appointment of arbitrator) reflects an amendment made by that article.

Note 4 to Form 2 has been expanded to give an example of a further question which may be referred to arbitration.
