EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations re-enact the Electricity and Pipe-line Works (Assessment of Environmental Effects) Regulations 1989 with modifications. They make textual changes consequent upon the Electricity Act 1989, make minor and drafting amendments and add provisions as to consultation, provision of information and service of notices.

The Regulations implement Council Directive 85/337/EEC (OJ No. L175, 5.7.85, p.40) on the assessment of the effects of certain public and private projects on the environment insofar as it relates to applications—

- (a) for consent to construct, extend or operate a generating station;
- (b) for consent to instal or keep installed an electric line above ground in England and Wales, and
- (c) for authorisations to construct or divert an oil or gas pipe-line on land in Great Britain.

As before, by regulation 3 the Secretary of State must not grant consent to an application for the construction, extension or operation of a nuclear generating station, or an application for the construction, extension or operation of a non-nuclear generating station which will result in a station with a heat output of 300 megawatts or more, unless the Secretary of State has taken into consideration the environmental information (as defined in regulation 2); this includes a statement by the applicant of the likely significant effects on the environment of the proposed development. Such a statement ("an environmental statement") must conform with the Schedule to the Regulations. In the case of an application for consent to construct, extend or operate a non-nuclear generating station with a heat output of less than 300 megawatts, an application for consent to instal or keep installed an overhead line or an application for consent to construct or divert a pipe-line on land, an environmental statement will only be required where the Secretary of State determines that in his opinion the proposed development would be likely to have significant effects on the environment by virtue of factors such as its nature, size or location. The Regulations apply to applications received by the Secretary of State on or after the date on which the Regulations come into force.

Persons proposing to apply for consents or authorisations to which the Regulations apply may ask the Secretary of State for a determination as to whether he would wish to take an environmental statement into account. The Secretary of State is required to consult the local planning authority before making such a determination. Regulation 5 deals with the position where an application is submitted without an environmental statement and the Secretary of State determines that one is required. Regulation 6 contains new provision for notice to be given to other bodies to facilitate the preparation of an environmental statement. Provision is made in regulation 7 for publicity and in new regulation 8 for consultation.

The remaining regulations deal with charges, provision of information and the service of notices.

The Electricity and Pipe-line Works (Assessment of Environmental Effects) Regulations 1989 are revoked, but continue to apply to any application which was received before these Regulations came into force.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations further amend the Housing Benefit (General) Regulations 1987.

They amend the provisions of regulation 11 (restriction on unreasonable payments) to provide that decisions of rent assessment committees shall only apply for 12 months (regulation 4).

They prescribe the circumstances in which, and the time within which, an appropriate local authority must apply to a rent officer for determination in respect of—

- (a) claims for rent allowances and
- (b) notifications of changes relating to a rent allowance.

The requirement to apply to a rent officer for such a determination applies to cases arising on or after 1st April 1989. The Regulations provide that in cases arising between that date and 1st April 1990 determinations by rent officers are to be made as at the date on which the claim for rent allowance or the notification relating to a rent allowance, was received by the appropriate local authority (regulations 5 and 12 and Schedule 1).

Regulation 13 of the General Regulations is amended so that young persons who are attending courses of advanced education are excluded from membership of the family for the purposes of housing benefit (regulation 6).

Regulation 34 of the General Regulations is amended so that earnings are treated as income in all cases (regulation 7).

The amendment of regulation 40 of the General Regulations provides that charitable or voluntary payments paid at irregular intervals shall be treated as capital (regulation 8). In the case of students the regulations increase the amount disregarded under regulation 56 of the General Regulations to ensure that certain students may benefit from the increased disregard provided for charitable and voluntary payments (regulation 9).

Regulation 63 of the General Regulations is amended so that non-dependant deductions are not made in the case of boarders (regulation 10), the provisions in regulation 67 of the General Regulations under which the benefit period ends are amended (regulation 11) and provision is made for the review of housing benefit and community charge benefit decisions by the same body by the amendment of regulation 81 of the General Regulations (regulation 12).

A number of minor amendments are made to provisions in Schedules 2 to 5 of the General Regulations relating to applicable amounts (regulation 14), the disregard of sums in the calculation of earnings (regulation 15), other income (regulation 16) and capital (regulation 17). These amendments are principally concerned with the introduction of community charge benefit and the amendment of the provision relating to income from boarders.

References to rates are amended by regulation 18 and Schedule 2, and transitional provision to enable claims for rate rebate after 1st April 1990 is made by regulation 19.
