PART I

Regulations made under section 2 of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Protection)(Scotland) Act 1951

Definition of methods of net fishing

2. For the purposes of section 2 of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Protection) (Scotland) Act 1951—

- (a) [<sup>F2</sup>fishing for or taking salmon by net and coble means the use of a sweep net, paid out from a boat, and worked from the bank or shore or from waters adjacent to the bank or shore, whereby the salmon are surrounded by the net and drawn to the bank or shore, provided that—
- (i) the net and any warps are not made or held stationary, nor allowed to remain stationary, nor allowed to drift with the current or tide, but are both paid out and hauled in as quickly as practicable and kept in unchecked motion by and under the effectual command and control of the fisherman for the purpose of enclosing the salmon within the sweep of the net and drawing them to the bank or shore;]
  - (ii) no stakes, dykes, other obstructive devices or other nets are used in association with the net;
  - (iii) the water is not disturbed by throwing of stones or other objects, or splashing or other activity in order to drive salmon into the area to be swept by the net; <sup>F3</sup>...
  - (iv) the net shall not come within 50 metres of any other such net already being paid out or hauled, until the last mentioned net has been fully hauled in to the bank or shore; and
- [<sup>F4</sup>(v) the net is not designed or constructed for <sup>F4</sup>the purpose of catching fish by enmeshing them; and]
- (b) fishing for or taking salmon by bag net, fly net or other stake net means the use of a fish trap (including the use of a landing net to remove salmon from such a trap) consisting of one or more fish courts and associated inscales and wings, together with a leader net designed to lead the salmon into the trap; the whole of which is fixed or moored to the shore or seabed [<sup>F5</sup>provided that—
- (i)] no part of the bag net, fly net or other stake net, except mooring [<sup>F6</sup>warps] and anchors, shall extend seawards beyond 1300 metres from the mean low water mark [<sup>F7</sup>; and
  - (ii) no part of the net or trap is designed or constructed for the purpose of catching fish by enmeshing them.]

4. In this part of these Regulations—

[<sup>F8</sup>“the Commission Regulation” means Commission Regulation (EC) No 517/2008 laying down detailed rules for the implementation of Council Regulation (EC) No 850/98 as regards the determination of the mesh size and assessing the thickness of twine of fishing nets;]

“monofilament netting” means any netting containing any mesh the sides of which consist of a single filament of synthetic material; and

“square mesh netting” means netting mounted so that of the two sets of parallel lines formed by the mesh bars one set is parallel to, and the other at right-angles to, the long axis of the net.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations define the lawful methods of fishing for salmon by means of a net (Part I) and the construction, dimension and material of nets that can be used for salmon fishing (Part II).

Regulation 2 defines, for the purposes of section 2 of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Protection) (Scotland) Act 1951, fishing for salmon by net and coble and by bag net, fly net or other stake net which section specifies the lawful methods of fishing for salmon by means of a net. Regulation 2 applies to the whole of Scotland and to those parts of the River Tweed and its tributaries which lie in England. Regulation 3 repeals section 62 of the Tweed Fisheries Act 1857.

Regulation 5 provides that regulations 4 to 9 applies to all nets used in fishing for salmon except a landing net used in connection with the lawful methods.

Regulation 6 prescribes 90mm as the minimum mesh size for nets so used in fishing for or taking salmon and regulation 7 prescribes the method of measuring the mesh size.

Regulation 8 forbids the use of monofilament netting in the construction of any net that can be used in fishing for or taking salmon.

Regulation 9 establishes the hanging ratio for leader nets or bag nets, fly nets and stake nets and prescribes the maximum length of a leader net.

Regulations 5 to 9 do not apply to the River Tweed but amendments made by regulation 10 to sections 12 and 13 of the Tweed Fisheries Amendment Act 1859 impose a similar ban on the use of monofilament netting, impose the same minimum mesh size and prescribe the same method of measuring the mesh size.

Regulation 11 revokes the Regulations made under section 6 of the Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act 1862 to deal with the meshes of nets and set out as a Byelaw in Schedule E to the Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act 1868.

A breach of regulation 2 will be dealt with under section 1(4) and section 18 of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Protection) (Scotland) Act 1951. Breaches of regulations 5 to 9 will be dealt with under section 15 of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Scotland) Act 1868. Section 3(7)(a) of the Salmon Act 1986 provides that any reference to byelaws or regulations made under the Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act 1862 and 1868 shall be construed as including a reference to Regulations made under section 3.

Changes to legislation:

There are currently no known outstanding effects for the The Salmon (Definition of Methods of Net Fishing and Construction of Nets) (Scotland) Regulations 1992.
