3.—(1) In the definitions in rule 2 of the 1995 Rules—

(b) for the definition of “the traditional procedure” there shall be substituted the following definition:

4.—(1) The justices for the City of London shall decide in accordance with paragraph (2)–

(b) whether the number of deputy chairmen to be elected at the election meeting in October 2000 should be a different number from that decided at the election meeting in October 1999, and if so, what that number should be.

(2) The justices for the City of London shall make the decisions required in paragraph (1) by a simple majority, between 1st May 2000 and 30th June 2000, either by postal ballot or by resolution ascertained by a show of hands at a meeting of which seven days' notice has been given to each of them.

(3) Notwithstanding any decision taken at the election meeting in October 1999, the justices for the City of London shall, at the election meeting in October 2000, elect the number of deputy chairmen decided under paragraph (1)(b) by the procedure decided under paragraph (1)(a).

(4) The person who is the Lord Mayor of London when these Rules come into force shall be the chairman of the justices for the City of London until he ceases to be Lord Mayor.

(10) The candidates for the election of deputy chairman to be elected in accordance with paragraph (9) shall not include any person who is chairman by virtue of paragraphs (4) or (5).

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Rules)

These Rules allow for the election to the offices of chairman and deputy chairman of justices for the City of London. The Rules are necessary because section 23 of the Justices of the Peace Act 1997 is repealed by the Access to Justice Act 1999. Section 23 gave the Lord Mayor for the time being an automatic right to be chairman of the justices for the City of London. It also gave certain aldermen who had been Lord Mayor the automatic right to be deputy chairmen.
