- (a) which begins on or after 1st April 2005; or

(i) the charity trustees determine that this regulation, rather than regulation 3 of the 2000 Regulations, shall apply to the statement of accounts; and

(ii) the charity trustees have not, before the date when these Regulations come into force, either approved the accounts of the charity in respect of that financial year, or authorised the signature of an annual report in respect of that financial year in accordance with regulation 7(3)(c) of the 2000 Regulations.

(2) If the charity trustees make a determination under sub-paragraph (b) above, they shall also make a determination under regulation 11(1)(b) below, if they are required to prepare an annual report in respect of the financial year in question.

9.—(1) An auditor or independent examiner carrying out an audit or examination of the accounts of a charity under section 43 of the 1993 Act shall have a right of access to any books, documents and other records (however kept) which relate to the charity concerned and which the auditor or examiner in question considers it necessary to inspect for the purpose of carrying out the audit or, as the case may be, examination.

(2) Such an auditor or independent examiner shall be entitled to require, in the case of the charity concerned, such information and explanations from past or present charity trustees or trustees for the charity, or from past or present officers or employees of the charity, as he considers it necessary to obtain for the purposes of carrying out the audit or, as the case may be, examination.

Dispensations from audit or examination requirements

10.—(1) The Commissioners may, in the circumstances specified in paragraph (2) below, dispense with the requirements of section 43(2) or (3) of the 1993 Act in the case of a particular charity or of a particular financial year of a charity.

(2) The circumstances referred to in paragraph (1) above are where the Commissioners—

- (a) are satisfied that the accounts of the charity concerned are required to be audited in accordance with any statutory provision contained in or having effect under an Act of Parliament which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, imposes requirements which are sufficiently similar to the requirements of section 43(2) for those requirements to be dispensed with;
- (b) are satisfied that the accounts of the charity concerned have been audited by the Comptroller and Auditor General or by the Auditor General for Wales;
- (c) are satisfied that the accounts of the charity concerned for the financial year in question have been, or will be, audited or, as the case may be, examined in accordance with requirements or arrangements which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, are sufficiently similar to the relevant requirements of section 43 of the 1993 Act applicable to that financial year of that charity for those requirements to be dispensed with;
- (d) are satisfied that there has in the financial year in question been no transaction on the part of the charity concerned which would be required to be shown and explained in the accounting records kept in pursuance of section 41 of the 1993 Act;

- (e) consider that, although the financial year in question of the charity concerned is one to which subsection (2) of section 43 of the 1993 Act applies, there are exceptional circumstances which justify the examination of the accounts by an independent examiner instead of their audit in accordance with that subsection.

(3) A dispensation under any of paragraphs 2(a) to (c) of this regulation is conditional on the charity trustees supplying to the Commissioners any report made to them with respect to the accounts of that charity for the financial year in question which the Commissioners have requested, and paragraph (2)(e) of this regulation is conditional on compliance by the charity trustees with all the requirements which would have applied if they had been able to make, and had in fact made, an election under section 43(3)(a) of the 1993 Act with respect to the accounts of the charity for the financial year in question.

These Regulations (“the 2005 Regulations”), which extend only to England and Wales, make provision with respect to the accounts of charities, the financial years of a charity, the requirements relating to audit or examination of charity accounts, and the annual reports of charity trustees. The Regulations do not apply to exempt charities, and only the provisions relating to annual reports apply to charitable companies.

The 2005 Regulations replace provision made by the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 1995 (S.I. 1995/2724) (“the 1995 Regulations”) and by the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2000 (S.I. 2000/2868) (“the 2000 Regulations”). The 2005 Regulations apply in the case of financial years which begin on or after 1st April 2005, or which begin before that date, if trustees choose to prepare accounts and reports in accordance with these Regulations. Subject to that, the 1995 and 2000 Regulations will continue to apply in relation to financial years beginning on or before 31st March 2005.

Regulations 3, 4 and 5 and the Schedules prescribe the form and contents of statements of accounts prepared by charity trustees under section 42(1) of the Charities Act 1993 (“the 1993 Act”), including the information to be provided by way of notes to the accounts and the methods and principles applicable.

Regulation 4 and Schedule 2 apply to accounts for common investment funds (other than pooling scheme funds) and for common deposit funds (“investment funds”).

Regulation 9 makes supplementary provisions with respect to audit and independent examination and regulation 10 prescribes the circumstances in which dispensation from the requirement to have accounts audited or examined may be given by the Charity Commissioners.

Regulations 11 and 12 deal with the annual reports which charity trustees are required to make to the Charity Commissioners. Regulation 12 applies to investment funds, regulation 11 applies to other charities.
