4.2 The Regulations also amend the 2004 Regulations to reflect the changes to the legislative framework in Gibraltar and in particular the changes made by the Gibraltar Constitution Order 2006.

4.3 These Regulations, together with the European Parliament (Disqualification)(United Kingdom and Gibraltar) Order 2009, are one of a number of instruments which prepare for the European Parliamentary election to be held on 4th June 2009.

6. European Convention on Human Rights

- 6.2 In my view the provisions of the European Parliamentary Elections (Amendment) Regulations 2009 are compatible with the Convention rights.

7. Policy background

- What is being done and why

- 7.1 Our policy has been to update the 2004 Regulations to take account of the provisions which were introduced for Parliamentary elections by the 2006 Act.
- 7.2 Schedule 2 to the Regulations replaces the European Parliamentary elections rules in Schedule 1 to the 2004 Regulations and reflect the new security measures introduced under the 2006 Act. These measures include security markings on ballot papers, the introduction of unique identifying marks and the replacement of counterfoils with corresponding number lists. The rules also reflect the changes made under the 2006 Act in relation to the retention and inspection of election documents after the poll.
- 7.3 The key policy changes which we have made in relation to absent voting at European Elections are set out in Schedule 3 to the Regulations which substitutes Schedule 2 to the 2004 Regulations. The changes include (a) new provisions for the collection of personal identifiers from persons applying to vote by post or proxy at a European Parliamentary election; (b) a requirement for postal voters at European Parliamentary elections to provide their signature and date of birth on postal voting statements (which they must complete and return with their ballot papers); and (c) a requirement for local returning officers to take steps to verify the signatures and date of birth on postal voting statements ( which involve checking that the identifiers provided on the postal voting statement correspond with those previously provided with the postal vote application).
- 7.4 In 1999, the European Court of Human Rights decided, as a result of a legal challenge to the UK from a Gibraltar resident, that the European Parliament formed a part of the Gibraltar's legislature and that by failing to organise European elections in Gibraltar, the United Kingdom was in breach of article 3 of the First Protocol to the European Convention on Human Rights. The European Parliament (Representation) Act 2003 ("the 2003 Act") provides for the Gibraltar electorate to be enfranchised for elections to the European Parliament. Our policy in relation to Gibraltar continues to be to ensure that its electorate can vote in European Parliamentary Elections and on the same terms as the UK electorate. These Regulations therefore extend to Gibraltar with the necessary modifications to ensure that the Regulations work effectively in that jurisdiction.
- 7.5 The Regulations also include cross references in regulations 3, 5, and 44 to primary legislation which the Gibraltar Government will be putting before the Gibraltar Parliament in respect of anonymous and late registration which mirror that which is in place for the United Kingdom. The bill in Gibraltar will be published on 20 November 2008 and debated by the Gibraltar Parliament in early January 2009.

7.6 Regulation 6(2A) of the 2004 Regulations and Schedule A1 to those Regulations, as inserted by regulations 6 and 7 of the Regulations, assign local counting areas to local returning officers in Scotland. This change will enable administrators to run their elections using one single software system for the checking of postal voting identifiers

- Consolidation

7.7 In order to assist electoral administrators in the practical application of the legislation we have re-enacted Schedule 1 (European Parliamentary Elections Rules), Schedule 2 (absent voting and Schedule 3 (modification of European Parliamentary elections rules for combined polls) to the 2004 Regulations in their entirety even though the scale of the changes to be made are not great. No further consolidation has taken place.

8. Consultation outcome

8.1 The Electoral Commission have been consulted on these draft Regulations as required by statute. We have incorporated a number of the points which the Electoral Commission raised in their response into the Regulations. This includes a change to the European Parliamentary elections rules which provide that parties must use the name of the party registered with the Electoral Commission under section 28 of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 and may use a description registered with the Electoral Commission under section 28A of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 in nomination papers. Provision is also made to the effect that a ballot paper must first list the name of the party followed by any description used.

8.2 Consultation has also taken place with the electoral administrators, the association of electoral administrators, the Scotland Office and the Wales Office. All are content with the changes which have been made to the 2004 regulations.

9. Guidance

9.1 The Electoral Commission will prepare and issue guidance to electoral administrators on the Regulations.

10. Impact

10.1 The impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies is nil.

10.2 The impact on the public sector is nil.

10.3 An Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument as it has no impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies.

11. Regulating small business

11.1 The legislation does not apply to small business.

12. Monitoring & review

12.1 We will keep the Regulations under review by liaising with the Electoral Commission, who have a statutory duty to report on the running of the European Parliamentary elections. We will also work with the Electoral Commission, electoral administrators and other stakeholders to ensure that any legislative lessons which are learnt in 2009 can be applied for future elections.
