7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

- 7.1 The Government of Wales Act 2006, as amended by the Wales Act 2014, enables Welsh Ministers to borrow from the National Loans Fund (NLF) (part of the UK Government) to manage current expenditure as set out in section 121(1)(a) to (c). The Welsh Ministers are also able to borrow from commercial banks (as well as the NLF) for capital expenditure, up to a statutory aggregate cap of £1 billion. HM Treasury has agreed that the Welsh Government can borrow annually up to 15% of this overall borrowing limit.
- 7.2 Section 121(4) of the Government of Wales Act 2006 allows the Secretary of State for Wales, with the consent of HM Treasury, to vary the means by which the Welsh Ministers can borrow money.
- 7.3 In the Command Paper Powers for a Purpose: Towards a Lasting Devolution settlement for Wales (Cm 9020¹) the Government committed to extend the borrowing powers for the Welsh Government to issue bonds to borrow for capital expenditure.
- 7.4 In line with this commitment, this Order extends the means by which the Welsh Ministers can borrow for capital investment to include bond issuance to ensure the system of borrowing is flexible and sustainable. It does not alter the statutory aggregate cap for Welsh Ministers' borrowing or the annual borrowing limit within this cap.

- 8.1 This instrument does not relate to withdrawal from the European Union / trigger the statement requirements under the European Union (Withdrawal) Act.

9. Consolidation

- 9.1 This Order amends section 121(1A) of the Government of Wales Act 2006; consolidation is therefore unnecessary.

- 10.1 The Commission on Devolution in Wales, known as the Silk Commission, reviewed the case for the devolution of fiscal powers to the National Assembly for Wales. Its report *Empowerment and Responsibility: Financial Powers to Strengthen Wales*² published in November 2012 recommended, as part of its wider recommendations on extending the borrowing powers of Welsh Ministers, that the Welsh Government should be able to issue its own bonds.
- 10.2 The Command Paper Wales Bill: Financial Empowerment and Accountability (Cm 8838³) published alongside the introduction of the Wales Bill in 2014, which implemented the majority of the Silk Commission's recommendations, noted the Government was willing to consider further whether bond issuance might be appropriate alongside the package of powers initially being devolved by the Bill.
