6. Legislative Context

- 6.1 Schedule 7 to the Local Government Finance Act 1988 establishes a procedure to determine the non-domestic rating multiplier for each chargeable financial year. This procedure includes a calculation, set out in paragraph 3, with a variable referred to as “B”. Unless a Treasury order is issued that says otherwise, B is the retail prices index for September of the financial year preceding the year concerned. If the government was not switching to the consumer price index, for the financial year beginning on 1st April 2019 B would be the retail prices index for September 2018, which is 284.1.
- 6.2 Paragraph 5(3) of Schedule 7 to the Local Government Finance Act 1988 establishes that if the Treasury so provide by order in relation to the year concerned, then B shall equal a figure which is less than that index and which is specified in the order, in place of that index.
- 6.3 The Local Government Finance Act 1988 (Non-Domestic Rating Multipliers) (England) Order sets out that for the purposes of paragraph 3 of Schedule 7 to the Local Government Finance Act 1988, in the financial year beginning on 1st April 2019, B is specified as 281.4.

7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

- 7.1 National non-domestic rates are calculated as the product of a hereditament’s rateable value, as determined by the independent Valuation Office Agency, and the non-domestic rating multiplier. A hereditament is a taxable unit of property.
- 7.2 Unless HM Treasury exercises its Order making power, the non-domestic multiplier will be adjusted each year by the 12 month percentage change in the retail prices index for the preceding September. For the financial year beginning on 1st April 2019 this figure would have been 3.3%.
- 7.3 In light of the rise in inflation, the planned switch in the annual increase of the non-domestic rating multiplier from the retail price index to the consumer price index was brought forwards by two years to 1st April 2018. This was announced by the Chancellor of the Exchequer at Autumn Budget 2017. The consumer price index that will be used is 2.4%.
- 7.4 These regulations set out the figures to be used to set the non-domestic rating multiplier for the financial year beginning on 1st April 2019.
- 7.5 The business rates non-domestic rating multiplier is the small business non-domestic multiplier plus an adjustment to fund a proportion of the estimated cost of the small business rate relief scheme. The Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government has estimated that the supplement to fund small business rate relief should be 1.3p for 2019-20.
- 7.6 Given that the consumer prices index is lower than the retail prices index, the change entails a reduced indexation of the non-domestic rates multiplier. Therefore all ratepayers will benefit from the change.

- 8.1 This instrument does not relate to withdrawal from the European Union.

12.2 All public sector organisations that pay non-domestic rates will benefit from the non-domestic rates multiplier increasing by a lower amount than if the Order is not made.

12.3 An Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument as it amends a local tax regime.

13. Regulating small business
