 - (ii) indicated the format in which documents must be sent, and
 - (b) on the secretary to the appeal panel, in any format which the secretary has indicated is acceptable.
- (4) Where a party wishes to serve a document containing a statement of truth by email, that party should retain the document containing the original signature and serve on the secretary and other parties to the appeal a version of the document satisfying one of the following requirements—

Prevention of disclosure or publication of documents and information

17.—(1) The appeal panel may make an order prohibiting the disclosure of specified documents or information relating to the proceedings.

(2) The appeal panel may give a direction prohibiting the disclosure of a document or information to a person if—

- (a) the appeal panel is satisfied that such disclosure would breach any international obligations of the United Kingdom or involve disclosure of sensitive information, and
- (b) the appeal panel is satisfied, having regard to the interests of justice, that it is proportionate to give such a direction.

(3) If one party to the appeal (“the first party”) considers that the appeal panel should give a direction under paragraph (2) prohibiting the disclosure of a document or information to another party (“the second party”), the first party must—

- (a) exclude the relevant document or information from any documents that will be provided to the second party, and
- (b) provide to the appeal panel the excluded document or information, and the reason for its exclusion, so that the appeal panel may decide whether the document or information should be disclosed to the second party or should be the subject of a direction under paragraph (2).

(4) If the appeal panel gives a direction under paragraph (2) which prevents disclosure to a party who has appointed a representative, the appeal panel may give a direction that the documents or information be disclosed to that representative if the panel is satisfied that—

- (a) disclosure to the representative would be in the interests of the party, and
- (b) the representative will act in accordance with paragraph (5).

(5) Documents or information disclosed to a representative in accordance with a direction under paragraph (4) must not be disclosed either directly or indirectly to any other person without the appeal panel’s consent.

(6) The appeal panel may give a direction that certain documents or information must be disclosed to the appeal panel on the basis that the panel will not disclose such documents or information to other persons, or specified other persons.

(7) A party making an application for a direction under paragraph (6) may withhold the relevant documents or information from other parties until the appeal panel has granted or refused the application.

(8) Unless the appeal panel considers that there is good reason not to do so, the panel must serve notice that a party has made an application for a direction under paragraph (6) on each other party.

(9) In a case involving matters relating to national security, the appeal panel must ensure that information is not disclosed contrary to the interests of national security.

(10) The appeal panel must conduct proceedings and record its decision and reasons appropriately so as not to undermine the effect of an order made under paragraph (1), a direction given under paragraph (2) or (6) or the duty imposed by paragraph (9).

Evidence

18.—(1) The appeal panel may give directions as to—

- (a) the provision by the parties of statements of agreed matters and statements of matters which are not agreed,

- (c) the nature of the evidence which it requires to decide those issues,
 - (d) whether the parties are permitted to provide expert evidence,
 - (e) any limits on the number of witnesses whose evidence a party may put forward, whether in relation to a particular issue or generally, and

- (2) In deciding whether to admit or exclude evidence, the appeal panel must have regard to whether it would be just and proportionate to do so, taking into account—
- (a) the statutory provision under which the appeal is brought and the standard of review being applied by the appeal panel,
 - (b) whether or not the substance of the evidence was available to the respondent before the decision which is the subject of the appeal was taken,
 - (c) the prejudice that may be suffered by one or more parties if the evidence is admitted or excluded, and
 - (d) whether the evidence is necessary to enable the appeal panel to determine the appeal.
- (3) Unless the appeal panel directs otherwise, no witness of fact or expert witness may be heard unless the relevant witness statement or expert report has been submitted in advance of the hearing and in accordance with any directions of the appeal panel.
- (4) The appeal panel may require witnesses to give evidence on oath or affirmation or if in writing by way of affidavit.
- (5) The appeal panel may allow a witness to give evidence through a video link or by other means of remote communication.
- (6) The appeal panel may dispense with the need to call a witness to give oral evidence if a witness statement or expert report has been submitted in respect of that witness.
- (7) The appeal panel may limit cross-examination of witnesses to any extent or in any manner it considers appropriate.
- (8) The requirements set out in paragraphs 2 to 23 of Practice Direction 32 to the Civil Procedure Rules 1998(2) apply to affidavits, exhibits, witness statements and other evidence given during the course of an appeal to the appeal panel under these Regulations as they apply to evidence submitted for proceedings in court.
- (9) For the purposes of paragraph (8), references in Practice Direction 32—
- (a) to the court are to be treated as references to the appeal panel;

- (3) The appeal panel may give a direction excluding from any hearing, or part of it, any person who the panel considers should be excluded in order to give effect to the requirement at regulation 17(10).

Failure to comply with direction

20.—(1) If any party fails to comply with any direction issued by the appeal panel in accordance with these Regulations, the panel may if it considers that the justice of the case so requires, order that—

- (a) the requirements of the direction be waived,
- (b) the failure be remedied, or
- (c) the party be debarred from taking any further part in the proceedings without the permission of the appeal panel.

(2) Before making an order under paragraph (1)(c), the appeal panel must give the party (or its representative) the opportunity to make submissions as to why the order should not be made.

Striking out

21.—(1) The appeal panel may, after giving the parties an opportunity to be heard, either on its own initiative or on the application of a party, strike out an appeal in whole or in part at any stage of the proceedings if—

- (a) it considers that the notice of appeal, or part of it, discloses no valid ground of appeal,
- (b) it considers that the appellant does not have a sufficient interest in the decision in respect of which the appeal is made,
- (c) it is satisfied that the appellant has habitually and persistently and without any reasonable ground—
 - (i) instituted vexatious proceedings, whether against the same person or different persons, or
 - (ii) made vexatious applications in the proceedings, or
- (d) the appellant fails to comply with these Regulations or with any direction issued by the appeal panel.

(2) When the appeal panel strikes out an appeal it may make any consequential determination it considers appropriate.

Amendments to notice of appeal

22.—(1) The appellant may amend the notice of appeal only with the permission of the appeal panel.

(2) Where the appeal panel grants permission under paragraph (1) it may do so on such terms as it thinks fit, and may give any further or consequential directions it considers necessary, including directions permitting the respondent to respond to the amended notice of appeal.

(3) In deciding whether to grant permission under paragraph (1), the appeal panel must take into account all the circumstances including whether the proposed amendment—

- (a) involves a substantial change or addition to the appellant's case,
- (b) is based on matters of law or fact which have come to light since the notice of appeal was served, or
- (c) for any other reason could not practicably have been included in the notice of appeal.

Withdrawal of the appeal

23.—(1) The appellant may withdraw its appeal at any time.

(2) The regulator may only reconsider the decision which is the subject of the appeal before the appeal is determined with leave of the appeal panel.

(3) Where an appeal is withdrawn, the appeal panel or, where no appeal panel has been appointed, the Secretary of State, may instruct the secretary to publish notice of the withdrawal on the panel website or in such other manner as the appeal panel or the Secretary of State, as the case may be, may direct.

(4) Where an appeal is withdrawn—

- (a) any interim order of the appeal panel immediately ceases to have effect, and
- (b) a fresh appeal may only be brought by the appellant in relation to the decision which was the subject of the appeal—

 - (c) breach data protection legislation, and for these purposes, “data protection legislation” has the meaning given in section 3(9) of the Data Protection Act 2018⁽³⁾.
- (8) The secretary must remove information relating to an appeal from the panel website—
