| Laid before Parliament | | 30th November 2022 |
| | | 22nd December |
| Coming into force | - - | 2022 |

The Treasury makes these Regulations in exercise of the powers conferred by article 497(3) of Regulation (EU) 575/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 June 2013 on prudential requirements for credit institutions and investment firms and amending Regulation No 648/2012⁽¹⁾(the “Capital Requirements Regulation”), and by regulation 18(2) of the Central Counterparties (Amendment, etc., and Transitional Provisions) (EU Exit) Regulations 2018⁽²⁾(the “CCP Regulations”).

The Treasury is satisfied that it is necessary and proportionate to extend the transitional provisions in paragraph 1 of Article 497 of the Capital Requirements Regulation in order to avoid disruption to international financial markets, and that it is necessary and proportionate to extend the temporary recognition period in regulation 18(1) of the CCP Regulations in order to avoid disruption to the financial stability of the United Kingdom.

Citation, commencement and extent

1.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Central Counterparties (Transitional Provision) (Extension and Amendment) Regulations 2022.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations extend transitional provisions provided for in Regulation (EU) 575/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council on prudential requirements for credit institutions and amending Regulation (EU) No 648/2012 (the “Capital Requirements Regulation”) and the Central Counterparties (Amendment, etc., and Transitional Provision) (EU Exit) Regulations 2018 (the “CCP Regulations”).

These Regulations extend the transitional provisions in relation to central counterparties which are established outside of the United Kingdom.

Regulation 2 provides that the transitional period provided for in Article 497(1)(b)(ii) of the Capital Requirements Regulation is extended by 12 months. Article 497(1)(b)(ii) sets out this transitional period for overseas central counterparties which have applied to be recognised by the Bank of England after 27 June 2019.

Regulation 3 amends Regulation 18(1) of the CCP Regulations, which provides the temporary recognition period for overseas central counterparties within the temporary recognition regime established by those Regulations. It extends this temporary recognition period by 12 months.
