ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

The Environment Act 2021 (Commencement No. 5 and Transitional Provisions) Regulations 2022

Made - - - - 30th November 2022

The Secretary of State makes the following Regulations in exercise of the power conferred by sections 147(3) and 148(1) of the Environment Act 2021(a).

Citation and interpretation

1.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Environment Act 2021 (Commencement No. 5 and Transitional Provisions) Regulations 2022.

(2) In these Regulations—

“the Act” means the Environment Act 2021;

“the 1967 Act” means the Forestry Act 1967(b).

Provisions coming into force on 1st January 2023

2. The following provisions of the Act come into force on 1st January 2023—

- (a) section 102 (general duty to conserve and enhance biodiversity);
- (b) section 103 (biodiversity reports);
- (c) section 114 (controlling the felling of trees in England);
- (d) Schedule 16 (controlling the felling of trees in England).

Transitional provisions

3.—(1) Section 17A(1B) (power of Commissioners to require restocking notice after unauthorised felling) of the 1967 Act, as inserted by paragraph 3 of Schedule 16 to the Act, applies in respect of a restocking notice served under section 17A(1) of the 1967 Act by the Commissioners(c) on or after 1st January 2023, notwithstanding that one or more matters causing the Commissioners to apprehend that an offence has been committed under section 17 of the 1967 Act may have arisen before that date.

(2) Section 24(6) (notice to require compliance with conditions or directions) of the 1967 Act, as inserted by paragraph 4 of Schedule 16 to the Act, applies in respect of a notice given under section 24(2) of the 1967 Act by the Commissioners on or after 1st January 2023, notwithstanding

(a) 2021 c. 30.

(b) 1967 c. 10 (“the 1967 Act”).

(c) See section 1(1) and (1A) of the 1967 Act for the definition of “the Commissioners” and “appropriate forestry authority” respectively. Subsection (1A) was inserted by S.I. 2013/755 and amended by S.S.I. 2019/734.

that one or more matters giving rise to the default to which the notice relates may have arisen before that date.

(3) Section 24A (further notice under section 24 for next estate or interest holders) of the 1967 Act, as inserted by paragraph 5(2) of Schedule 16 to the Act, applies in respect of a notice served under section 24(2) of the 1967 Act by the Commissioners on or after 1st January 2023, notwithstanding that one or more matters giving rise to the default to which the notice relates may have arisen before that date.

(4) Section 24B (restocking orders after conviction under section 24 in England) of the 1967 Act, as inserted by paragraph 6 of Schedule 16 to the Act, applies where a person has been convicted of an offence committed under section 24(4) in England in respect of a notice given under section 24(2) on or after 1st January 2023, notwithstanding that the matters giving rise to that notice and conviction may have arisen before that date.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations bring into force provisions of the Environment Act 2021 (c. 30) (“the Act”). These are the fifth commencement regulations made by the Secretary of State under the Act.

Regulation 2 brings into force on 1st January 2023 specified sections of the Act.

Section 102 makes amendments to section 40 of the Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006 (c. 16). Section 40 places a duty on public authorities to have regard to the conservation of biodiversity when delivering their functions. The revisions to section 40 strengthen the requirement for public authorities, to assess how they can take action to conserve and enhance biodiversity, and then take these actions.

Section 103 inserts a new section 40A to the Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006, which requires local authorities and local planning authorities, excluding parish councils, to produce biodiversity reports detailing the action they have taken under the biodiversity objective set out in section 102. It defines, at a high level, the content of the biodiversity reports and their frequency. Additionally, it creates a power for the Secretary of State to designate other public authorities that are required to report, and to specify quantitative data to be included in the reports.

Section 114 introduces Schedule 16, which makes amendments to Part 2 of the Forestry Act 1967 (c. 10) strengthening enforcement in relation to controlling the felling of trees. These amendments enable the Commissioners to create a local land charge, where illegal felling has taken place or a felling licence has not been complied with, to give a further enforcement notice on the land where the land ownership has changed during the enforcement period, and amends the provisions in relation to the service of documents as to who can be served with a document and who can be required to provide information. In addition, the amendments enable the court to make a restocking order upon conviction for a section 24 offence (non-compliance with an Enforcement Notice) and to impose an unlimited fine for the offence committed in England under section 17 for felling without a licence.

An impact assessment has not been published for these Regulations as they have no impact on cost to business, the public or voluntary sectors independent of the provisions these Regulations bring into force. A full impact assessment has been published in relation to the Act and copies can be obtained from the website of the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs at
